

Proposed Test Script for Home Page

The script will test the links on the site to ensure that they working correctly. It will test all aspects of the page to ensure that the objects are loading and playing and it will ensure that the user is viewing the screen as it should appear. Users will be asked to complete the script using a variety of different browsers. Users will be asked to comment on ease of use. It is suggested that the test script for the rest of the site will follow the same format
